

My Lords, Hon. Legislators, and My Fellow Members,

Tonight, we reach the turning point of history. Our flags wave high, our hearts are unshaken, and our will is unconquerable. The era of warnings and patience is over. The Stephenson Kingdom, in its continued aggressive march, has attempted to find out the strength of our Union. They have miscalculated the flames burning in our souls. But now, under these same skies which have witnessed the rise and fall of empires, we announce: No more.

The mills of our mighty industry thunder with the passion of a nation roused. Our arsenals and ammunition dumps bulge with the gravity of fate itself. Our soldiers stand armed with the best tools of war—rifles that shall inscribe our will upon the pages of history, cannon that shall roll like the sound of judgment, and machines that shall sweep across the field like storms unleashed. But this is not the summit of our strength.

Tonight, I come before you to announce the beginning of a new age—the age of the Hydrogen Bomb.

No more shall we fight with only steel and gunpowder. We have harnessed the power of the stars, the same energy that sustains creation and destruction. The Hydrogen Bomb is not just a bomb—it is a symbol, a statement to all who would challenge our supremacy. It says in a voice louder than diplomacy, clearer than treaties, and firmer than any words ever uttered: TREDT Union yields to no one.

But be it known: we do not desire destruction for its own end. We do not glory in war, nor pride ourselves upon suffering. But when confronted by tyranny, when threatened by those who would enslave our people, we respond with a flame so vast that the heavens themselves shake. If peace is to be denied to us, then let our foes understand that we will make it in the fire of combat.

The currents of destiny now flow in our direction. Every warrior who steps out, every researcher who works in our laboratories, every worker who makes our war effort stronger—you are all the makers of our fate. We do not wage war for conquest. We wage war for survival. We wage war for the future.

So let the world witness. Let history mark this day. For today, the TREDT Union does not turn back, does not yield. Today, we advance to glory!

For Victory! For Power! For the Union!
